SLEPT IN A HAYMOW

ART STUDENTS GATHER INSPIRATION FROM THE NEWMOWN.

WOMEN WATCH THE COWS

People Sturdy and Happy and Wear Home-Made Stockings and Heavy Clothing in Switzerland.

Miss May Corwin, whose European letters have been delighting the readers of The Democrat-Forum the past two months, is expected to arrive home the latter part of next week. Her letter today continues her trip into the Alps and begins with her view of Old Matterhorn and other noted mountains around, through the telescope as soon as they reached the summit house:

We could see the great crevices in the glaciers below and around us, and at one point three men roped together climbed across. Around us were Pollux and Castor, Monte Rose, Matterhorn, Petit Matterhorn, Mont Blanc, and some others of the greatest. The Gornergrat is a smaller mountain which sticks right up in the middle of the circle and we could not see the valley from which we came, so seemed to stand right up in the midst of eternal snows. All were different shapes. Monte Rosa was the prettiest and largest pile, the Matterhorn higher. When we had been there a few minutes our guide appeared and we rejoined, but he reported no more coming on the last stretch. The hotel is very fine and we had good hot drinks, then started down at 5 o'clock. Had gone up between 10 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. We went down a snow bank, slid mostly.

We caught two other girls drinking milk at the village the last stop before Zermatt, at 6:30, and knew we could not make it before 7:30 dinner at the hotel, so decided to stay all night. There was only one room with two single beds to be had, so the rest slept in a haymow. I decided on a real bed and took my star-gazing from the window instead of through cracks in the wall, but the haymow people said they listened to the woods and water all night.

The little inn was built on a steep spot, two lower floors being rock and cement and the upper floor simply for summer use, two rooms on each, so we had a very plain dining room and bed room. We sat on stools at the table, but things were clean. It reminded me of Estes Park. A noisy little river ran right close by. In the morning we had breakfast, with orange marmalade and coffee, milk and cheese, and got an early start down. Came past the great gorges. They are fine

It was funny to hear everyone explaining just why they didn't reach the top. As usual, most of them could have gone, but they thought the view just as good where they were. Mr. Dillon had had spikes put in his shoes the night before and only reached the second hotel. Mrs. Dillon quite frankly said one of her feet wouldn't work going upward any more, but it came back very nicely. Everyone praised the softness of the rocks along the way.

The trip to Lake Geneva was much the same as that up to Visp, the Rhone valley became larger. We did not see many peasants in bright costumes. Saw shepherds watching cows mostly, although that appears to be the old ladies' job over here. The people are sturdy, wiry looking and the children very rosy cheeked. All wear woolen home-made stockings and heavy clothing.

At Monteaux, entrance of Lake Geneva, a few of us stopped to see the castles of Chillon. It is quite a solid pile on a little isle near the shore, and we saw very interesting persons, but not down into the deeper dungeons. Everything was so clean and nice we couldn't quite get the proper thrills, but it was a strong old place surely. The large rooms (prison), where five pillars of stone have the old rings in them to which men were chained, has one wall and part of the floor of the real rock in rough shape.

The trip down the lake was great. The terraced hills and gardens and natural groves are just like a landscape gardener's dreamland. There are many fashionable baths and beautiful villas along the shore. The city itself is very interesting, but at this time of year all the schools have vacations and all Frenchmen had moved to Geneva. We saw a very peculiar little Russian church and a synagogue, also a Presbyterian cathedral, where we heard a good concert at night. Saw the church where John Knox preached two years, and there is a statue of Calvin there. The shops, especially jewelry, were very attractive. The watches, of course, were the principal feature, some being small enough for sets in lockets and even for rings. We saw the kind that strike when you pull a lever, but none are practical for Americans.

Between Geneva and Paris we stayed the night at Dijon. Rain prevented our seeing much. The country through southern France was charming—had the appearance of landscape gardening, and there was one huge wheat field that looked like our own U. S. A. The corn fields were not fenced off, so they herd the cows by hand. The old women do it generally. One sat on a stool with her knitting, looked like a rural picture. The houses have low sloping roofs of tile generally, though some are thatch. At Fonlinleau we passed immense forests.

Paris is very cosmopolitan. It has rained almost every day, so we can't rave about the color scheme of the place. Were all disappointed at first, but like it better now.

We get tickets for Holland in the morning. Leave Friday and meet the party in London September 6. Cousin George is so determined to go to Holland, says he will go alone if necessary. So I will go with him.

Waterloo, August 31.—Am writing on Wellington's table out here, in this house where he established his headquarters, which was the post relay. His aid de camp, Alexander Gordon, was transported here after having been mortally wounded and expired here the following day, after the battle. Had a lovely ride out from Brussels. Arrived yesterday. Still raining, but we don't let it stop us. Have fine hotel and guide.

Hague, Holland, September 4.—Have seen the place pretty well. Very interesting. Real Dutch windmills, lots of canals through the country and the quaintest houses. On to Amsterdam today.

INCREASE IN SALARY SEPT 30.

Receive Pay on Old Rate for Twenty-Nine Days and on New Rate For One Day.

When the rural carriers of Nodaway county receive their pay checks on September 30 for the service they rendered during the month of September they will receive pay for twenty-nine days at the old rate of salaries and one day at the new.

This seems strange but must be done by Postmaster S. R. Beech, as the law authorizing the increase in pay goes into effect on September 30 instead of October 1. Just why the law is put into effect on September 30 instead of October 1, is unexplainable, and furthermore it will cause some one considerable trouble in figuring up that one day.

The following is the schedule for rural carriers' salaries effective September 30: Six to 8-mile routes, $484; 8 to 10-mile routes, $528; 10 to 12-mile routes, $572; 12 to 14-mile routes, $616; 14 to 16-mile routes, $660; 16 to 18-mile routes, $770; 18 to 20-mile routes, $880; 20 to 22-mile routes, $990; 22 to 24-mile routes, $1,056; 24 miles and more, $1,100.

Mrs. W. B. Louden and Miss Margaret McFadden of Blanchard Ia., were among the shoppers in Maryville Friday.

RURAL SCHOOLS TO SECURE ADDITIONAL CREDIT.

THIRTY-EIGHT APPROVED

Superintendent Oakerson Has Visited Thirty-Four Rural Schools Since the Opening September 2.

Arrangements are being made whereby additional credit is to be given to the approved rural schools in the county, says County Superintendent Oakerson.

This year the pupils graduating from these rural schools will be excused from writing final examinations on four subjects out of ten, provided they have made the required grades under their teacher. These subjects are reading, agriculture, physiology and geography. But pupils trying for the county scholarships will be required to write on all ten of the subjects.

At the present time there are thirty-eight approved rural schools in the county, but since more requirements are to be made, some of the schools will drop from the approved list, being unable to keep up with the requirements.

County Superintendent Oakerson has visited thirty-four rural schools since they opened on September 2. He found the conditions of these schools to be in first class shape.

The Progressive or Bull Moose party will open their campaign in this congressional district at a meeting to be held in St. Joseph on Tuesday evening. Henry J. Allen, editor of the Wichita, (Kan.) Beacon, will be the main speaker. Fred P. Robinson of this city, the party's candidate for congressman from this district, will also speak.

An effort is being made by the party to put up a strong fight for Mr. Robinson, who has promised to get actively into the campaign. Petitions have been circulated in Nodaway county during the past few days to get his name on the ticket.

Mr. Robinson returned Friday night from Kansas City and St. Joseph, where he was in conference with the Bull Moose leaders. He said Saturday that everything was in fine shape for the new party, and much work is being done by that organization.

YOUNG BOY ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Mose VanHouten, a 10-year-old boy of Ravenwood, was accidentaliy shot Saturday afternoon a little while after 1 o'clock while out hunting on John Steiger's place, just west of Ravenwood, with four other boys about his own age.

It is not known exactly how the accident happened, but it is thought the boy shot himself accidentally in taking a shell from his 22-caliber target rifle. The shot went into his body just above the right lung, passing straight through and lodging in his back, where it was easily felt by the physicians who are at this time caring for him.

The boy was brought to the home of his father, C. H. VanHouten, in Ravenwood, by his companions, Hoyt Craig, John VanHouten, Ray Moore and Dorse Conn, and physicians summoned. His wound is a very bad one and the physicians are unable to say how it will result.

SHE WON ART PRIZE

TWO SKETCHES OF MISS EVA DUNCAN WIN FAVORS.

FRIENDS STOLE TO ENTER

They Had Such a High Opinion of Her Ability They Entered Pieces Without Her Knowledge.

The friends of Miss Eva Duncan, a daughter of Professor and Mrs. B. F. Duncan, who is teaching in the schools of Bartlesville, Okla., will be pleased to learn that two pieces of her work in sketching were awarded the prize in the annual art exhibit held in Tulsa last week.

Miss Duncan was more surprised than any one, for she did not know that any of her work was on exhibition. She has been spending her Saturday afternoons out around Bartlesville at her favorite pastime, and one of her sketchings, which she titled "An Oklahoma Landscape Scene," was regarded so highly by some of her artist friends in Tulsa that it was stolen from her collection, along with another sketch, that of the head of a child, and taken to the art exhibit at Tulsa and entered.

Miss Duncan has been working in art for the pleasure of it since she was a small child. She studied art in Kansas City awhile after her college work, and her sketchings and paintings are decidedly creditable. Her Maryville friends will be happy to know of the splendid recognition her work has received.

HER HUSBAND IN GERMANY.

The Death of Mrs. Christian Schaaf of Clyde Not Yet Known by Mr. Schaaf.

Mrs. Christian Schaaf of Clyde, who died last Friday night at Norwalk, Wis., where she had gone to visit relatives, left Clyde on September 19 in company with her daughter, Mrs. Ray Wright of Columbia, Mo., on her trip north. She wished to make her annual visit there before cold weather came. When she arrived in Chicago she was taken quite ill with a weakness of the heart, to which she was subject, but went on to Norwalk, where she was taken very ill at 5 o'clock in the afternoon on the following day and died at 11 o'clock that night.

The body was brought to Clyde and funeral services were held Friday morning, September 27, in the Clyde Catholic church, by Fr. Frowin Merten, and burial took place in St. Columbus cemetery.

Mrs. Schaaf was the mother of twelve children, two of whom are deceased. Those who attended the funeral Friday were John Schaaf of Waukena, Kan.; Michael Schaaf of Pueblo, Colo.; Mrs. Charles Neppert of Anadarko, Okla.; Mrs. Ray Wright of Columbia, Mo.; Mrs. Lewis Remele of Clyde; Christian Schaaf, Jr., living north of Clyde, and Peter Schaaf, at home. Another daughter, Mrs. Joseph Rute of San Diego, Cal., and two sons, Henry Schaaf of Modesto, Cal, and Joseph Schaaf of Dowling, S. D., were unable to come.

Christian Schaaf, Sr., left Clyde in July on a visit to his sister in Cologne, Germany, going by way of Norwalk, Wis., a German settlement of which he was an original member. He is expected home soon.

Mrs. Schaaf was born near Cologne, Germany, August 1, 1840. When she was 15 years old she came with her parents to America and settled in Wisconsin, where she was married to Christian Schaaf in 1862. They moved to Seneca, Kan., in 1870, and in 1875 came to Nodaway county and settled on a farm three miles north and two miles east of Clyde. Eight years ago they left the farm and moved to Clyde to make their home.

Beside her husband and children, Mrs. Schaaf is survived by two brothers, Michael and Peter Hemmersbach of St. Mary's, Wis., and a sister, Mrs. Nellie Schafer of Seneca, Kan., who attended the funeral.

Andy Chris Cummins attended the home coming at the Stanberry street fair Friday.

Perhaps the Gower people got their campaign ideas from Mr. Taft's way of busting the trusts.

Maybe a committee could be appointed to have some better understanding with the weather man. Most months of winter is neither seasonable, economical nor satisfactory in this neck of the woods.

If there was no tariff on grain, therefore, the American farmer would not be menaced by the possibility of foreign competition, for the reason that foreigners have no grain to sell. But the situation is vastly different with the farmer when he comes to buy the tools, machinery, clothing, lumber and other necessities of life.

It has been shown in official reports that the identical articles used by the American farmer are sold abroad for from 25 to 40 per cent less. The same harvesting machines that are made by the trust in Chicago and sold to the American farmer for $125, are sold in Russia for $80 and $90. Nothing but the tariff thus enables the trust to rob the American farmer, because, if it was not for the tariff, the danger of competition from Canada would force the American trust to sell its machines for one price to all. Farming would have been more profitable if President Taft hadn't vetoed the so-called farmer's free list bill.—St. Joseph News-Press.

GOING BACK INTO THE PAST

Men of Science Seeking to Discover Facts of Life of Five Million Years Back.

Out in the Nevada desert the professors have been prying into the secrets of 5,000,000 years ago.

The discoveries are said to be most important by those who are interested in prehistoric relics. The learned men put the discoveries at the miocene period, which is some 5,000,000 years ago.

Among the discoveries is an antediluvian fish that is eighteen feet long. What a whopper of a fish liar the prehistoric man must have been when he went back to the cave and told the family about the big one that got away!

And the horse race of that day must have been a peculiar spectacle, for the equine specimen unearthed has three toes on its feet and is about the size of a large dog.

Five million years is too big a flight of time to ask even our fancy to cover. Trips to Mars and visits to the man in the moon are within our range, but when one is asked to go back to the real back-actionary period of the world, we have to draw the line, especially when we learn that we have to deal with three toed horses and eighteen feet long minnows.

And yet we have to wonder at what manner of a world it was then; we have perforce to try to people it with human beings and with animals of the earth, the sea and the air; we have to wonder whether they, too, were bothered with presidential candidates, whether the women demanded the right to vote and whether peek-a-boo waistings were just coming into style.

And, by the way, the professors found a dinosaur there, too. We never saw a dinosaur and never hope to see one, but one was found, so let it be recorded.

Well, after all, 5,000,000 years ago is some time!

PANAMA HAT OF COMMERCE

Prized Headgear Made From Palm Leaves Grown in Central and South America.

Panama hats are made from a palm of the "chandelier-tree" family, which grows wild in enormous quantities in the northern parts of South America and in Central America. The greater number of highest grade Panamas are made in Ecuador, with Peru a good second. The best of these sell for $150 each.

The young, tender leaves of the plant are gathered before they unfold; all the ribs and coarse veins are removed, and the rest is reduced to shreds without being separated from the stem. The shredded leaves are placed in large earthenware jars filled with water and the juice of lemons and left to soak for from six to ten days. After this they are spread out to dry and bleach in the sun.

The fibers are woven upon a block held upon the knees. The coarse hats are finished in two or three days; the best take as many months. The best times for weaving are in the early morning and in the rainy season, when the air is moist. In the middle of the day and in the dry season the fiber is apt to break.

Where He Got Them.

Mickey and Pat had been at school together, but had drifted apart in after life. They met one day, and the conversation turned on athletics. "Did you ever meet my brother Bounds?" asked Pat. "He has just won a gold medal in a Marathon race." "That's fine," said Mike. "But did I ever tell you about my uncle at Ballythomas?" Pat feared that he could not call him to mind. "Well," continued Mike, "he's got a gold medal for five miles and one for ten miles, a silver medal for swimming, two cups for wrestling, and a lot of badges for boxing and cycling." "He must be a great athlete, indade," said Pat. "You're wrong," cried Mike. "He keeps a pawnshop!"

Rope Horseshoes.

Horseshoes of rope are largely made use of in Germany and some other foreign countries, and it is said that there should be some demand in this country, on account of the character of the paving which largely prevails in this country and which is hard on the feet of the animals. The rope is sometimes reinforced with wire and sometimes it is tarred and after being cut and shaped is secured to an iron shoe which is secured to the animal's hoof. While its appearance is not as neat and elegant as a shoe of metal, the soft cushion of rope is very grateful on the animal's feet, and from a humane standpoint it should be more generously made use of.

Device to Protect Sheep.

A device to protect sheep from the ravages of wolves, coyotes and other animals has been invented by E. C. Goodsell of Thermopolis, Wyo. The machine consists of an automatic gun which will shoot a blank cartridge every hour, forty or sixty minutes, as adjusted, and which has eyelashes to be adjusted to coyotes and foxes that will work in every direction. It makes more than one revolution a minute, being driven by means of a coiled spring and gear wheels, a sort of clockwork. The mechanism is enclosed in a storm and dust proof metal case and mounted on four adjustable legs. It has a weight of twenty-five pounds, so that it can be carried with the sheepman's outfit with no difficulty.

TEND TO DIRECTOIRE MODEL

Suits and Gowns Are All Showing the Leaning to This Decidedly Pretty Effect.

Carrying out predictions of a few months ago, fashion designers are emphasizing with decided success the directoire model in suits and gowns. There is a jauntiness about the cut, the lines and trimming that gives just the charm, the "chic," as Parisians say, to a costume. The combination of materials is most easily carried out, because of the cuffs, the lapels and collar with the vest and patch pockets which characterize this style. Buttons play an important part, and the broad girdle and sash give opportunity for a color note that will contribute individuality and character to a gown or suit.

Generally, the coat has a turned-back collar of satin or cloth. It can be quite flat or it can stand in a high stock effect, tied up with black ribbon or velvet, the knot or bow at the side.

Straight lines of buttons are used, great emphasis being placed on round forms of bright horn, or brass balls, or on ornamental styles of enamel and tortoise shell.

The favorite directoire dress and suit have vest effects. This important part of the costume is shown in velvet, cloth, embroidered satin or figured crepe. It is buttoned under buttons and can be fashioned of straight pieces or crossed portions. The whole length of the vest can be shown if the jacket is the cutaway type. If it is crossed and fastened, the vest is seen below the waist line.

There are patch pockets at the hips of many directoire coats. Sleeves are usually long, with ruffles of lace at the lower edge or running up the outer seam. Turned-back cuffs are also in vogue.

The skirt of the directoire gown shows increased fullness obtained by either panniers, draperies or pleats laid flat and pressed, so that the silhouette is not daringly modified.

Directoire styles will insure a beauty in dress that will be unusually general this fall and winter. The grace, the variety and the opportunity for using short lengths are too good to be forgotten in the interesring song of the styles. Let the interesting chapter of French history be opened again when you plan your new clothes.

HAS PROPER DRESSY EFFECT

Nile Green Shantung Most Suitable for Costume Designed for Especially Smart Occasion.

For visiting and smart occasions this might well be made in Nile green Shantung.

The skidt is a plain, well-cut shape, made with a wrapped seam down the center, while the coat is Russian in style and has the deep basque connected with the coat by a narrow band; vandyke lace is taken round the neck and edges the fronts, also sleeves.

Hat of coarse straw, lined with black satin and trimmed with a feather.

Materials required: 6 yards Shantung 34 inches wide, 1½ yards lace.

Metal Ribbons, Picot Edged.

In accordance with the general vogue for metal effects this season, ribbon manufacturers are devoting much attention to the production of metallic novelties, says the Dry Goods Economist. Not only is a touch of gold or silver employed, but many all-metal numbers are in evidence. Picot-edged silver and gold ribbons are shown, in widths from No. 7 to 16. Other handsome metal novelties in widths up to No. 9 are distinguished by a grosgrain edge. Self-colored striped metals in gold and in silver are shown especially suitable for use in fashioning hair ornaments. Quantities of these new metal ribbons will be used in millinery and in fancy work.

PROPERTY OF THE WORLD

Political Status of Spitzbergen Fixed by a Conference of the Powers Interested.

Spitzbergen has always been "No Man's Land." Its political status has at length been fixed in the most general terms, for hereafter it is to be the land of every nation that is sufficiently interested to contribute a small assessment for the maintenance of some semblance of law and order there.

This is the outcome of the series of conferences between Russia, Sweden and Norway that has dragged along for several years. The three nations based their claims to the archipelago upon the exploratory work they had done. Nothing came of all their talk, having fully agreed to disagree, they have met again at Christiania and evolved a remarkable compromise. They have signed a convention under which Spitzbergen is to be neutral territory open to all nations, with a government administered by a joint board composed of one representative of each of the contracting powers. The board will levy such taxes as are permitted by the interested governments.

Nobody seemed to want these islands until 1905, when it began to look as though the British flag would fly above the glaciers. Fifty Britons landed, began to mine coal, and have kept the industry thriving ever since. Then Russia and Scandinavia began to feel paternal and delved in their archives for the records of their own pioneer explorers.

ART IS WORTH CULTIVATION

Quality of Being Agreeable Carries a Man Far on His Troublous Journey Through Life.

The true art of being agreeable is to appear well pleased with all the company and rather to seem well entertained with them than to give entertainment to them. A man thus disposed perhaps may not have much learning, nor any wit, but if he have common sense and something friendly in his behavior it conciliates men's minds more than the brightest talents without this disposition, and when a man of such a turn comes to old age, he is almost sure to be treated with respect.

It is true, indeed, that we should not dissemble or flatter in company, but a man may be very agreeable, strictly consistent with truth and sincerity, by a prudent silence where he cannot concur, and a pleasant assent when he can. Now and then you meet with a person so exactly formed to please that he will gain upon everyone that hears or beholds him; this disposition is not merely the gift of nature, but frequently the effect of much knowledge of the world and a command over passions.

Substitute Silver.

When the silver was rounded up at the end of the day's work the master of the pantry sorted out eleven spoons engraved with the names of other restaurants and hotels.

"And that is getting off pretty well," said he. "These were left by customers who swiped some of our own silver. Waiters have become so expert at counting at just one glance the pieces of silver they remove from a table that the average pilferer is ashamed to secrete a fork or spoon unless he has something to replace it with. Eyes sharp enough to take in the number of pieces cannot read names and monograms at arm's length, so the substitute is pretty sure to prevent detection. Souvenir fiends who go to big restaurants with the intention of carting off a part of the silver have got smart enough to leave other spoons that they have got tired of in its place to fool the waiter."

In the Same Boat.

"We get some sad cases," said the attendant at the Balmy Lunatic asylum to the interested visitor, and opened the door of the first cell.

Inside was a man sitting on a three-legged stool, gazing vacantly at the wall.

"His is an unhappy story," said the attendant. "He was in love with a girl, but she married another man, and he lost his reason from grief."

They stole out softly, closing the door behind them, and proceeded to the next inmate.

This cell was thickly padded, and the man within was stark, staring mad.

"Who is this?" inquired the visitor.

"This?" repeated the attendant. "This is the other man!"

Appeal for Alms at Wedding.

There are many customs associated with the French wedding which American brides might copy. One concerns the duties of the maids of honor. An American who attended a fashionable wedding in the Madeleine in Paris recently was impressed with the following little ceremony:

The maids passed through the assembly of guests making a silent appeal for alms for the poor. At a wedding where no money had been spared and untold extravagance prohibited no one could begrudge the offering of silver expected to be dropped into the dainty receptacle of filmy lace, ribbon and flowers, which, when not in use, was hung on the arms in lieu of a bouquet.

Its Kind.

"Do you get all kinds of money from your rich old uncle?"

"No; I get only one kind."

"What kind's that?"

"Acrimony."

This is Horse Sense.

Give a man a ten-cent cigar and he will beam all over, and love you for six hours; offer him ten cents with which to buy it, and he will throw it in your face.

Give a man a pass to a show and he will call you a good fellow in all the language at his disposal; offer him the money to buy a ticket and he will laugh at you and call you a fool.

Ask a man home to take "pot luck" and he will jump at the chance; give him $1 and tell him to get a good meal at a hotel and he will knock you down.

The dollar is mighty, but it isn't warm. Nothing chills hospitality and good fellowship more than the touch of cold metal. You may spend money on a friend, but you must not ask him to touch it. Silver is not a good conductor and you can't transmit half as much cordiality and hospitality to a friend as by means of a bad cigar. Money substitutes for good looks and good sense and great success, but it can't take the place of good fellowship worth a toothpick.

Took Guest Home.

Miss Laurinda Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Craig of Bolckow, who is attending high school in our city, went to her home Friday evening to spend the week-end, accompanied by her cousin, Miss Laura Craig, who will be her guest. Miss Laurinda is the young woman who has attracted so much attention about our city by her fine riding on horseback. She brought her dark bay thoroughbred, "Peggy," with her to Maryville, their companionship at home on the farm forbidding their separation during the long school months. Miss Craig was a winner at the horse show at our recent street fair.

EASTMAN KODAKS and SUPPLIES at Crane's

Amendment Will Help Roads.

Every vote for the school tax amendment is a vote for 300 miles of good roads annually. This statement is not imaginative in the least. The legislature is willing and anxious to appropriate, without limit, for the building of good roads, but, unfortunately, funds in sufficiency are lacking. With the adoption of the mill tax a million dollars will be released from the general revenue, which will afford the means for the construction of good roads.

ALL KINDS OF GHOSTS

Polly Andrews Discovered a Daylight Species.

By CLARA INEZ DEACON.

Sheriff Bob Andrews was climbing into his buggy to drive to town when his daughter Jolly came out of the house to call to him:

"Oh, dad, I'm going over to the Rickett's place today to get wild plums."

"Lots of them there," he replied, "but what about the ghosts?"

"They never show up by daylight, you know."

"Well, don't flirt with them, if they do."

The old Rickett's place was a mile down the highway. It was a small farm and a rambling old house that had been abandoned for years. The land had grown up to weeds and briars and tangle, and the house was doorless and windowless, and tenanted by all kinds of ghosts, from that of Henry Ward Beecher to that of a murdered pack peddler. When the boys visited the place to snook around they went in gangs, and the men who drove past after dark made their horses step a little faster at this spot. Everybody laughed about the ghosts of the Rickett's house, but nobody made a hunt for them.

Polly Andrews had been visiting the place at intervals for the last five years. There were artichokes, apples, plums and berries to be found there in season, and a healthy girl has the same appetite for those things as a boy. She has never peered into the front door. But that was the limit. No use in tempting the ghosts to spring out and do murder. The wild plum season had come again, and Polly would defy several ghosts for all the fruit she could eat. Yes, there were plenty of wild plums, as her father had said, and she sat down under a tree to "gobble."

From where she sat, the girl could see only one end of the house. There were four window-openings in view and she had glanced at them several times and wondered what the interior of the house was like, when the face of a young man suddenly appeared at one of the openings on the second floor. It showed for only three seconds, but that was long enough to satisfy the girl that she was looking at a human being—a young man whose face might have been interesting but for the look of fear on it.

"That chap is hiding!" whispered the girl to herself, and she felt more curiosity than fear.

Bob Andrews had been sheriff of Boone county, term after term, and his wife and daughter had always been more or less interested in his cases.

"Yes," resumed the girl," "if he were not a fugitive, he would not be here. Hasn't the look of a horse thief, and he is a stranger in this locality. May have been hiding here for three or four days, but I haven't heard that dad is after anyone just now. He is probably armed. Wonder what dad would do if he were here?"

For five long minutes she kept her eyes on the window, hoping the man would show his face again, and then she sprang up with the words:

"Why, I know what dad would do. He'd go in there and pull the fellow out and find out all about him. I'll do the same!"

Without giving herself time to argue, she walked straight up to the house and half-way around it to the porch, and looked in at the door. A rotting and dismantled stairway led up from a hallway with little heaps of rubbish here and there—desolation on every hand. It was a ghostly place, even at midday.

"Come down here, sir!"

The girl stepped into the hall and called to whomever might be above.

No reply—no movement.

"Then I shall come up!"

With a chill at her heart and every nerve tingling, Polly firmly mounted the shaky old stairs. There was fear at every step, but she forced herself to go upwards. Four bedrooms opened off the hall and no doors to any of them. The girl looked into three of them, and then shivered. The man must be hiding in the fourth. She hesitated for only a second and then advanced. There was no challenge. Sitting on the floor in a corner was the fugitive. His knees were drawn up and his elbows rested on them, and his face was hidden in his hands. He knew that the girl had come up and was looking at him, but he kept his position until she rather impatiently demanded:

"Well, you have a name and a tongue?"

"If they have come to arrest me—" he replied looking up.

"Mister man, get to your feet! That's better. Now get a grip on yourself. Why are you cowering here?"

"I have been made a victim of a base plot," he answered. "I have been hiding here for two days."

"I have read of base plots in novels, but never encountered one. They didn't seem to pick out a hero to base-plot against in this case!"

The young man was impressed by her sarcasm. He blushed and straightened up, and after swallowing hard he replied: "I do not claim to be a hero, but I am not a liar. For three years I have been employed in the First National bank at Averne."

"Yes. And money has been taken."

"A package of $5,000 was missing. I had no more to do with the taking of it than you did."

"But you skipped out and left the world to believe you a thief."

"Yes, fool that I am, it came upon me so suddenly that I was all confusion. The cashier came to me and charged me with the theft and put $100 in my hands and advised me to flee at once to escape arrest. He said prison awaited me if I stayed. I only waited to put on my hat and coat."

"Chump!" scorned Polly.

"But if I had stayed?"

"That package would have been found somewhere as having been 'mislaid.' Was there any particular reason for the cashier wanting to drive you out?"

"I can't think of any."

"Were you both courting the same young lady?"

"Why—why—"

"Oh, you innocent lamb!" laughed the girl. "It's no wonder the gold brick men can afford their steam yachts. How that cashier must chuckle."

"Do you think—think—.."

"No, I don't think. I know. Your name is what?"

"Porter Phelps."

"And I am Polly Andrews, daughter of the sheriff of this county. Come out under the plum trees."

When they were out doors and seated she continued: "Mr. Porter Phelps you appear to lack sand and to be easily rattled and to need a guardian. You have told me a straight story, have you?"

"I have."

"No evasions?"

"None whatever."

"Then you are coming with me and tell dad all about it. Dad's fine as silk on a trail, and they say I know a thing or two. I guess we can straighten this matter out all right."

"But your father—" protested the fugitive.

"He'll have a few words to say along the line I have, and then turn to and help you out."

Polly was a prophet. To a layman, the young man's story would have been pronounced too fishy for belief, but Sheriff Andrews had seen just as queer cases in his time. He listened quietly, thought for awhile, and then said:

"If you and the cashier were both after the same girl, he would have a motive in wanting to drive you away in disgrace. I'll go over to Averne and see what I can pick up."

Two days later he returned to say:

"No one but the cashier had heard that any money was missing, and it did not take me long to convince him that even he had not heard of it. You can go back and take your place again."

A year later, just after Mr. Phelps had left the sheriff's house one evening, the father remarked to the daughter:

"I thought he was in love with a girl in Averne."

"So did he for awhile."

"Did she jilt him?"

"No. I arrested him!"

News of Society and Womens' Clubs

Social Well Attended.

The social given to the Normal students at the First Baptist church Friday by the B. Y. P. U. was well attended. The church parlors were handsomely decorated in autumn leaves and red haws. Progressive games were played and a menu of sandwiches, pickles, cake and coffee were served.

Entertained Newlyweds.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Howard of St. Joseph, who have been guests at the home of Mr. Howard's aunt, Mrs. Jacob Rohr, since Wednesday noon, returned to their home Saturday morning. Mrs. Rohr attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Howard in the early days of September, which was solemnized in the Evangelical church of St. Joseph.

The Dew Drop Inn Club.

The Dew Drop Inn club met in business session at the home of Mrs. Harry Farrar Wednesday afternoon. After the transaction of the business a very pleasant social hour was spent and a dainty luncheon served by the hostess. Those present were Mrs. John Sprague, Mrs. Claud Moore and son, Mrs. Albert Orme, Mrs. Elmer Baker and the hostess, Mrs. H. W. Farrar. The next meeting will be held October 2 at the home of Mrs. N. Orme.

A Double Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stillwell and sons left Friday noon for Waukon, Ia., to be present at the double golden wedding celebration of Mr. Stillwell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Stillwell, Sr., and their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Stillwell, also of Waukon. Fifty years ago on the second day of the coming October, the two brothers married sisters, and they have lived in the same town all those years, their families grew up, and they have lived to celebrate their golden wedding day together, a most unusual thing, it seems. Their children will all be present and it will be a memorable event. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Stillwell, Sr., number seven, and are Miss Minnie Stillwell, at home; Mrs. Fred Wildman, C. H., C. S., Jr., and Lewis Stillwell and Mrs. M. L. Barthell, all of Waukon, and Charles E. Stillwell of Maryville.

Met With Mrs. Sheldon.

The Woman's Missionary society of the M. E. church, South, met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. B. Sheldon, the president. The program was unusually interesting. The subject, "The Dependent and Delinquent Child and Medical Work," was presented by Mrs. Frank Mathis and discussed by the new pastor, Rev. J. D. Randolph. A paper on "Our Institutions for the Prevention and Rescue of Children" was read by Mrs. N. F. Humber, and a story of the work of Miss Ida Shafer in Brazil was given by Miss Eva Ashford. A vocal number, "Promise," by Watkins, was sung by Mrs. Charles Thorp. Refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Frank Mathis was chosen a delegate to the missionary conference to be held in St. Joseph, October 14-15. Mrs. E. B. Sheldon will read a paper at this conference on "Orientals at Home and Abroad." The next meeting of the society will be held with Mrs. D. J. Thornton.

Hadley's Extravagance.

Governor Hadley's attacks upon Attorney General Major proceed not only from jealousy on account of the superior achievements of the Democratic attorney general, but they are inspired by a malicious purpose to discredit an official who has not only administered the office more effectively for the people of the state than Hadley administered the same office, but who also did more work than Hadley at less cost to the taxpayers.

Let the figures from the state auditor's books tell the story:

Cost of litigation and contingent expense:

Under Attorney General Hadley, for 44 months from Jan. 1, 1905, to Sept. 1, 1908	$103,252.88
Under General Major, for 44 months, from Jan. 1, 1909, to Sept. 1, 1912	76,830.33
Which shows that Gen. Major has saved the people ple in this one item	$ 26,422.55

The Men Who Succeed

As heads of large enterprises are men of great energy. Success, today, demands health. To ail is to fail. It's utter folly for a man to endure a weak, run-down, half alive condition when Electric Bitters will put him right on his feet in short order. "Four bottles did me more real good than any other medicine I ever took," writes Chas. B. Allen, Sylvania, Ga. "After years of suffering with rheumatism, liver trouble, stomach disorders, and deranged kidneys, I am again, thanks to Electric Bitters, sound and well." Try them. Only 50 cents at the Orear-Henry Drug Co.

Gather Your Seed Corn Early.

The Wabash is distributing fly bills broadcast urging the early selection of seed corn for use of next spring's planting. Hundreds of farmers had to replant their corn last spring and then had only one-half to two-thirds of a stand because they waited until spring to get their seed and then picked it from the crib. The fly bill issued by the Wabash gives valuable suggestions how to go about the selection of fully developed ears most suitable for this purpose, also how seed corn should be stored during the winter months. Copy of this fly bill can be obtained from any Wabash agent or by addressing J. D. McNamara, G. P. A., St. Louis, Mo.

What We Never Forget

According to science, are the things associated with our early home life, such as Bucklin's Arnica Salve, that mother or grandmother used to cure our burns, boils, scalds, sores, skin eruptions, cuts, sprains or bruises. Forty years of cures prove its merit. Unrivaled for piles, corns or cold sores. Only 25 cents at the Orear-Henry Drug Co.

KILLED ONE, WOUNDED SEVERAL

Strike at Augusta, Ga., Becomes Serious—Bullets for All Who Attempted to Pass "Dead Line" Near Power Plant.

Augusta, Ga., Sept. 28.—One person was killed, another shot probably fatally, a third injured severely and a number of persons fired upon by state guardsmen, called out late in the day to protect the power plant of the street railway company from possible violence of its striking employes.

The guardsmen were summoned when it was reported the plant was to be dynamited at night and they hastily established a "dead line."

Alfred Dorn was killed when he and Ben. F. Baker attempted to pass the line in a carriage. When challenged, Baker whipped his horse and the soldiers fired. Baker's injuries are slight.

Robert Christie attempted to drive through the lines in a motor car and did not hear the sentry's challenge. He had gone only a few feet when he was shot through the lungs. He will die.

Charles Wilson, his wife and child, in a motor car, also were fired on, but escaped unhurt. Soldiers also shot at a boy on a motorcycle but did not hit him.

Great crowds were assembled in the mill district, which was the scene of the previous night's rioting. Just before dark the West End sympathizers spiked the long Broad street bridge.

Despite the announcement early in the day that the proposed mass meeting at night had been called off by the labor leaders, a large crowd assembled at the courthouse.

The night's outbreak was the direct result of the refusal of the street railway company to arbitrate the troubles with the striking men.

TAKES MURDER CHARGE COOLLY

Young Man Accused of Killing Family at Wellington Little Concerned Over Arrest.

Wellington, Kan., Sept. 28.—Otto McKnelly, who is in jail here charged with the murder of his father, mother and sister, has started a dancing class and, apparently, is little concerned over his arrest on the damaging evidence against him.

The coroner's jury went to the scene of the murder and made a minute investigation. Tracks of a man running through a cornfield were found. They led towards the Santa Fe roundhouse where McKnelly worked, and fitted his shoes.

McKnelly was absent from his work at the car repair shops of the Santa Fe nearly two hours between 12:45 and 2:30 o'clock Wednesday morning and when he returned he told William Arnold, his foreman, that he had been fitting a pair of shoes for a car brake.

The coroner's jury had a Santa Fe employe give an actual demonstration of shoe fitting to car wheels and it was found that it could be done by an experienced man in three minutes. McKnelly has retained W. W. Schwinn for his defense.

Fly Killer Reports.

Redlands, Cal., Sept. 28.—A. E. Chapman, the municipal fly catcher here, has just filed his first report, showing that in the period between September 1 and the present time he killed approximately 3,750,000 flies. He has emptied 50 gallons of flies from 100 traps scattered through the business portion of Redlands. Chapman estimates that there are 75,000 flies to a gallon, and on this basis the total mortality is estimated.

Motor Racer Injured.

Hiawatha, Kan., Sept. 28.—Otis Spigler of Falls City, Neb., narrowly escaped death at the fair here when his motor car burned out a tire on a sharp curve of the half mile track, throwing him 30 feet. The heavy car turned over and over. His reckless driving had made him a favorite. After being revived he was able to drive another car home. His mechanician was injured slightly.

Turned On Girl's Rescuer.

Pratt, Kan., Sept. 28.—A. E. Snell came near killing Willie Barker, a high school boy, here. Snell was drunk and attacked a young high school girl. Her screams brought young Barker and John Bennett to the scene. Snell hit Bennett with his fist and then hit Barker on the head with the blade of his lathing hatchet. A leather cover over the hatchet saved Barker's life. Snell is in jail.

Find Wealthy Mason Dead.

Hugo, Ok., Sept. 28.—John W. Gowan a member of the Masonic Consistory in Wichita, was found dead in a cottage six miles west of here. He owned $3,000 in Hugo and Cooperstown, Pa., banks and owned large land interests here and in Pennsylvania. He had no relatives. The Masonic lodge is holding his body for information after wiring Masonic bodies in four states.

LIVED ON RAW EGGS

Mr. Richard's Experience With Different Diets. Peaches and Buttermilk for Three Years.

Cecilton, Md.—Mr. George Richards, of this place, during the past 12 years, has probably tried more different diets than the average person would ever use in a lifetime.

What he has to say about his experiments, must therefore be highly interesting to anyone suffering from indigestion or stomach troubles of any kind.

He says: "For more than 12 years, I suffered with stomach troubles, and paid hundreds of dollars for doctor bills and medicines. I was also operated on for piles.

I lived on dried peaches and buttermilk for nearly three years. The only thing that would not give me pain was raw eggs.

I was a physical wreck. I could not sleep, and was as near crazy as a man could well be.

I must say that after taking two 25-cent packages of Thedford's Black-Draught, it did me more good than all I ever spent for other medicines.

I have been working daily on the farm ever since, and I am as hard as iron." This purely vegetable remedy has been in successful use for more than 70 years. Try it. But be sure that it's "Thedford's."

FEEL BULLY? TAKE CASCARETS TONIGHT

A 10-Cent Box Will Keep Your Liver, Stomach and Bowels Clean, Pure and Fresh for Month.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver, delayed fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Salts, cathartic pills, oil and purgative waters force a passageway for a day or two—yes—but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver or stomach.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels clean and regular for months.

BURLINGTON JUNCTION.

(From the Post.)

H. D. Middaugh was in Maryville on business Tuesday. He has secured the job of painting and decorating the new federal building that is in course of erection at the county seat and will begin the work just as soon as conditions will permit.

The fatal disease, which attacked and killed a number of horses in this locality the past month, seems to be abating, and no more cases have been reported in the vicinity of Burlington Junction this week. Farmers have taken precautionary measure against the malady and this has had its results. The disease is appearing in Page county, Iowa, however, and Dr. J. A. Hendricks had three cases near Braddyville Sunday. He spent the entire day there treating the animals. After making a thorough study of the disease, experts have come to the conclusion that the malady is not contagious and no quarantine will be made in this state against Nebraska and Kansas horses.

Fletcher Jones, the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Jones, living southwest of town, met with a peculiar accident Sunday morning which will keep him from school for some time. He had just arisen from bed and as he was going toward the stairway he playfully turned a somersault over another bed. He misjudged the distance to a window and his foot broke through the glass, the sharp edge cutting his ankle painfully and severing the main tendon where it joins the heel. The injury bled freely and the boy's parents phoned to Burlington Junction for a doctor. They were unable to find any physician here, but left a call with central office to send one as soon as possible. They then called Dr. William Wallis of Maryville, who arrived shortly after Drs. Gaugh and Carter, who had gone as soon as notified. The three physicians dressed the injury, sewing the leader together and placing the boy's foot in a position for healing. Fletcher is reported as doing well and it is now thought that the injury will heal all right.

SLEPT IN A HAYMOW

WOMEN WATCH THE COWS

People Sturdy and Happy and Wear Home-Made Stockings and Heavy Clothing in Switzerland.

Miss May Corwin, whose European letters have been delighting the readers of The Democrat-Forum the past two months, is expected to arrive home the latter part of next week. Her letter today continues her trip into the Alps and begins with her view of Old Matterhorn and other noted mountains around, through the telescope as soon as they reached the summit house:

We could see the great crevices in the glaciers below and around us, and at one point three men roped together climbed across. Around us were Pollux and Castor, Monte Rose, Matterhorn, Petit Matterhorn, Mont Blanc, and some others of the greatest. The Gornergrat is a smaller mountain which sticks right up in the middle of the circle and we could not see the valley from which we came, so seemed to stand right up in the midst of eternal snows. All were different shapes. Monte Rosa was the prettiest and largest pile, the Matterhorn higher. When we had been there a few minutes our guide appeared and we rejoined, but he reported no more coming on the last stretch. The hotel is very fine and we had good hot drinks, then started down at 5 o'clock. Had gone up between 10 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. We went down a snow bank, slid mostly.

We caught two other girls drinking milk at the village the last stop before Zermatt, at 6:30, and knew we could not make it before 7:30 dinner at the hotel, so decided to stay all night. There was only one room with two single beds to be had, so the rest slept in a haymow. I decided on a real bed and took my star-gazing from the window instead of through cracks in the wall, but the haymow people said they listened to the woods and water all night.

The little inn was built on a steep spot, two lower floors being rock and cement and the upper floor simply for summer use, two rooms on each, so we had a very plain dining room and bed room. We sat on stools at the table, but things were clean. It reminded me of Estes Park. A noisy little river ran right close by. In the morning we had breakfast, with orange marmalade and coffee, milk and cheese, and got an early start down. Came past the great gorges. They are fine

It was funny to hear everyone explaining just why they didn't reach the top. As usual, most of them could have gone, but they thought the view just as good where they were. Mr. Dillon had had spikes put in his shoes the night before and only reached the second hotel. Mrs. Dillon quite frankly said one of her feet wouldn't work going upward any more, but it came back very nicely. Everyone praised the softness of the rocks along the way.

The trip to Lake Geneva was much the same as that up to Visp, the Rhone valley became larger. We did not see many peasants in bright costumes. Saw shepherds watching cows mostly, although that appears to be the old ladies' job over here. The people are sturdy, wiry looking and the children very rosy checked. All wear woolen home-made stockings and heavy clothing.

At Monteaux, entrance of Lake Geneva, a few of us stopped to see the castles of Chillon. It is quite a solid pile on a little isle near the shore, and we saw very interesting persons, but not down into the deeper dungeons. Everything was so clean and nice we couldn't quite get the proper thrills, but it was a strong old place surely. The large rooms (prison), where five pillars of stone have the old rings in them to which men were chained, has one wall and part of the floor of the real rock in rough shape.

The trip down the lake was great. The terraced hills and gardens and natural groves are just like a landscape gardener's dreamland. There are many fashionable baths and beautiful villas along the shore. The city itself is very interesting, but at this time of year all the schools have vacations and all Frenchmen had moved to Geneva. We saw a very peculiar little Russian church and a synagogue, also a Presbyterian cathedral, where we heard a good concert at night. Saw the church where John Knox preached two years, and there is a statue of Calvin there. The shops, especially jewelry, were very attractive. The watches, of course, were the principal feature, some being small enough for sets in lockets and even for rings. We saw the kind that strike when you pull a lever, but none are practical for Americans.

Between Geneva and Paris we stayed the night at Dijon. Rain prevented our seeing much. The country through southern France was charming—had the appearance of landscape gardening, and there was one huge wheat field that looked like our own U. S. A. The corn fields were not fenced off, so they herd the cows by hand. The old women do it generally. One sat on a stool with her knitting, looked like a rural picture. The houses have low sloping roofs of tile generally, though some are thatch. At Fonlinleau we passed immense forests.

Paris is very cosmopolitan. It has rained almost every day, so we can't rave about the color scheme of the place. Were all disappointed at first, but like it better now.

We get tickets for Holland in the morning. Leave Friday and meet the party in London September 6. Cousin George is so determined to go to Holland, says he will go alone if necessary. So I will go with him.

Waterloo, August 31.—Am writing on Wellington's table out here, in this house where he established his headquarters, which was the post relay. His aid de camp, Alexander Gordon, was transported here after having been mortally wounded and expired here the following day, after the battle. Had a lovely ride out from Brussels. Arrived yesterday. Still raining, but we don't let it stop us. Have fine hotel and guide.

Hague, Holland, September 4.—Have seen the place pretty well. Very interesting. Real Dutch windmills, lots of canals through the country and the quaintest houses. On to Amsterdam today.

INCREASE IN SALARY SEPT 30.

Receive Pay on Old Rate for Twenty-Nine Days and on New Rate For One Day.

When the rural carriers of Nodaway county receive their pay checks on September 30 for the service they rendered during the month of September they will receive pay for twenty-nine days at the old rate of salaries and one day at the new.

This seems strange but must be done by Postmaster S. R. Beech, as the law authorizing the increase in pay goes into effect on September 30 instead of October 1. Just why the law is put into effect on September 30 instead of October 1, is unexplainable, and furthermore it will cause some one considerable trouble in figuring up that one day.

The following is the schedule for rural carriers' salaries effective September 30: Six to 8-mile routes, $484; 8 to 10-mile routes, $528; 10 to 12-mile routes, $572; 12 to 14-mile routes, $616; 14 to 16-mile routes, $660; 16 to 18-mile routes, $770; 18 to 20-mile routes, $880; 20 to 22-mile routes, $990; 22 to 24-mile routes, $1,056; 24 miles and more, $1,100.

Mrs. W. B. Louden and Miss Margaret McFadden of Blanchard Ia., were among the shoppers in Maryville Friday.

RURAL SCHOOLS TO SECURE ADDITIONAL CREDIT.

THIRTY-EIGHT APPROVED

Superintendent Oakerson Has Visited Thirty-Four Rural Schools Since the Opening September 2.

Arrangements are being made whereby additional credit is to be given to the approved rural schools in the county, says County Superintendent Oakerson.

This year the pupils graduating from these rural schools will be excused from writing final examinations on four subjects out of ten, provided they have made the required grades under their teacher. These subjects are reading, agriculture, physiology and geography. But pupils trying for the county scholarships will be required to write on all ten of the subjects.

At the present time there are thirty-eight approved rural schools in the county, but since more requirements are to be made, some of the schools will drop from the approved list, being unable to keep up with the requirements.

County Superintendent Oakerson has visited thirty-four rural schools since they opened on September 2. He found the conditions of these schools to be in first class shape.

OPEN CAMPAIGN NEXT TUESDAY

The Progressive Party to Start Ball Rolling at St. Joseph.

The Progressive or Bull Moose party will open their campaign in this congressional district at a meeting to be held in St. Joseph on Tuesday evening. Henry J. Allen, editor of the Wichita, (Kan.) Beacon, will be the main speaker. Fred P. Robinson of this city, the party's candidate for congressman from this district, will also speak.

An effort is being made by the party to put up a strong fight for Mr. Robinson, who has promised to get actively into the campaign. Petitions have been circulated in Nodaway county during the past few days to get his name on the ticket.

Mr. Robinson returned Friday night from Kansas City and St. Joseph, where he was in conference with the Bull Moose leaders. He said Saturday that everything was in fine shape for the new party, and much work is being done by that organization.

YOUNG BOY ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Mose VanHouten, a 10-year-old boy of Ravenwood, was accidentaliy shot Saturday afternoon a little while after 1 o'clock while out hunting on John Steiger's place, just west of Ravenwood, with four other boys about his own age.

It is not known exactly how the accident happened, but it is thought the boy shot himself accidentally in taking a shell from his 22-caliber target rifle. The shot went into his body just above the right lung, passing straight through and lodging in his back, where it was easily felt by the physicians who are at this time caring for him.

The boy was brought to the home of his father, C. H. VanHouten, in Ravenwood, by his companions, Hoyt Craig, John VanHouten, Ray Moore and Dorse Conn, and physicians summoned. His wound is a very bad one and the physicians are unable to say how it will result.

SHE WON ART PRIZE

TWO SKETCHES OF MISS EVA DUNCAN WIN FAVORS.

FRIENDS STOLE TO ENTER

They Had Such a High Opinion of Her Ability They Entered Pieces Without Her Knowledge.

The friends of Miss Eva Duncan, a daughter of Professor and Mrs. B. F. Duncan, who is teaching in the schools of Bartlesville, Okla., will be pleased to learn that two pieces of her work in sketching were awarded the prize in the annual art exhibit held in Tulsa last week.

Miss Duncan was more surprised than any one, for she did not know that any of her work was on exhibition. She has been spending her Saturday afternoons out around Bartlesville at her favorite pastime, and one of her sketchings, which she titled "An Oklahoma Landscape Scene," was regarded so highly by some of her artist friends in Tulsa that it was stolen from her collection, along with another sketch, that of the head of a child, and taken to the art exhibit at Tulsa and entered.

Miss Duncan has been working in art for the pleasure of it since she was a small child. She studied art in Kansas City awhile after her college work, and her sketchings and paintings are decidedly creditable. Her Maryville friends will be happy to know of the splendid recognition her work has received.

HER HUSBAND IN GERMANY.

The Death of Mrs. Christian Schaaf of Clyde Not Yet Known by Mr. Schaaf.

Mrs. Christian Schaaf of Clyde, who died last Friday night at Norwalk, Wis., where she had gone to visit relatives, left Clyde on September 18 in company with her daughter, Mrs. Ray Wright of Columbia, Mo., on her trip north. She wished to make her annual visit there before cold weather came. When she arrived in Chicago she was taken quite ill with a weakness of the heart, to which she was subject, but went on to Norwalk, where she was taken very ill at 5 o'clock in the afternoon on the following day and died at 11 o'clock that night.

The body was brought to Clyde and funeral services were held Friday morning, September 27, in the Clyde Catholic church, by Fr. Frowin Merten, and burial took place in St. Columbus cemetery.

Mrs. Schaaf was the mother of twelve children, two of whom are deceased. Those who attended the funeral Friday were John Schaaf of Waukena, Kan.; Michael Schaaf of Pueblo, Colo.; Mrs. Charles Neppert of Anadarko, Okla.; Mrs. Ray Wright of Columbia, Mo.; Mrs. Lewis Remele of Clyde; Christian Schaaf, Jr., living north of Clyde, and Peter Schaaf, at home. Another daughter, Mrs. Joseph Rute of San Diego, Cal., and two sons, Henry Schaaf of Modesto, Cal, and Joseph Schaaf of Dowling, S. D., were unable to come.

Christian Schaaf, Sr., left Clyde in July on a visit to his sister in Cologne, Germany, going by way of Norwalk, Wis., a German settlement of which he was an original member. He is expected home soon.

Mrs. Schaaf was born near Cologne, Germany, August 1, 1840. When she was 15 years old she came with her parents to America and settled in Wisconsin, where she was married to Christian Schaaf in 1862. They moved to Seneca, Kan., in 1870, and in 1875 came to Nodaway county and settled on a farm three miles north and two miles east of Clyde. Eight years ago they left the farm and moved to Clyde to make their home.

Beside her husband and children, Mrs. Schaaf is survived by two brothers, Michael and Peter Hemmersbach of St. Mary's, Wis., and a sister, Mrs. Nellie Schafer of Seneca, Kan., who attended the funeral.

Andy Chris Cummins attended the home coming at the Stanberry street fair Friday.

Perhaps the Gower people got their commencement ideas from Mr. Taft's way of busting the trusts.

Maybe a committee could be appointed to have some better understanding with the weather man. Nine months of winter is neither comfortable, economical nor satisfactory in this neck of the woods.

We presume is will be only a few days until the committees on the Republican county ticket explain whether they are for Taft or Roosevelt. It would be a very simple matter and would call for quite a little curiosity in some quarters.

How many millions more well-to-do voters will be disfranchised by the old shop-worn methods of knocking dollars, whitewashing hills, bike foot races, etc.? Will it ever become known that strangers are not to be overtime for some preposterous thing or other that they know nothing of or nothing for nothing?

Theodore Roosevelt is confidently promised to carry out the principles of President McKinley. The last we heard of Mr. McKinley's principles was a tariff law framed by Mr. McKinley, and signed by President McKinley, which gave the trusts all they asked for and more than they expected. Theodore Roosevelt has been in office for more than three years and has not lifted a finger to disturb the McKinley tariff law. ALL KINDS OF GHOSTS

Polly Andrews Discovered a Daylight Species.

By CLARA INEZ DEACON.

Sheriff Bob Andrews was climbing into his buggy to drive to town when his daughter Jolly came out of the house to call to him:

"Oh, dad, I'm going over to the Rickett's place today to get wild plums."

"Lots of them there," he replied, "but what about the ghosts?"

"They never show up by daylight, you know."

"Well, don't flirt with them, if they do."

The old Rickett's place was a mile down the highway. It was a small farm and a rambling old house that had been abandoned for years. The land had grown up to weeds and briars and tangle, and the house was doorless and windowless, and tenanted by all kinds of ghosts, from that of Henry Ward Beecher to that of a murdered pack peddler. When the boys visited the place to snook around they went in gangs, and the men who drove past after dark made their horses step a little faster at this spot. Everybody laughed about the ghosts of the Rickett's house, but nobody made a hunt for them.

Polly Andrews had been visiting the place at intervals for the last five years. There were artichokes, apples, plums and berries to be found there in season, and a healthy girl has the same appetite for those things as a boy. She has never peered into the front door. But that was the limit. No use in tempting the ghosts to spring out and do murder. The wild plum season had come again, and Polly would defy several ghosts for all the fruit she could eat. Yes, there were plenty of wild plums, as her father had said, and she sat down under a tree to "gobble."

From where she sat, the girl could see only one end of the house. There were four window-openings in view and she had glanced at them several times and wondered what the interior of the house was like, when the face of a young man suddenly appeared at one of the openings on the second floor. It showed for only three seconds, but that was long enough to satisfy the girl that she was looking at a human being—a young man whose face might have been interesting but for the look of fear on it.

"That chap is hiding!" whispered the girl to herself, and she felt more curiosity than fear.

Bob Andrews had been sheriff of Boone county, term after term, and his wife and daughter had always been more or less interested in his cases.

"Yes," resumed the girl, "if he were not a fugitive, he would not be here. Hasn't the look of a horse thief, and he is a stranger in this locality. May have been hiding here for three or four days, but I haven't heard that dad is after anyone just now. He is probably armed. Wonder what dad would do if he were here?"

For five long minutes she kept her eyes on the window, hoping the man would show his face again, and then she sprang up with the words:

"Why, I know what dad would do. He'd go in there and pull the fellow out and find out all about him. I'll do the same!"

Without giving herself time to argue, she walked straight up to the house and half-way around it to the porch, and looked in at the door. A rotting and dismantled stairway led up from a hallway with little heaps of rubbish here and there—desolation on every hand. It was a ghostly place, even at midday.

"Come down here, sir!"

The girl stepped into the hall and called to whomever might be above.

No reply—no movement.

"Then I shall come up!"

With a chill at her heart and every nerve tingling, Polly softly mounted the shaky old stairs. There was fear at every step, but she forced herself to go upwards. Four bedrooms opened off the hall and no doors to any of them. The girl looked into three of them, and then shivered. The man must be hiding in the fourth. She hesitated for only a second and then advanced. There was no challenge. Sitting on the floor in a corner was the fugitive. His knees were drawn up and his elbows rested on them, and his face was hidden in his hands. He knew that the girl had come up and was looking at him, but he kept his position until she rather impatiently demanded:

"Well, you have a name and a tongue?"

"If they have come to arrest me—" he replied looking up.

"Mister man, get to your feet! That's better. Now get a grip on yourself. Why are you cowering here?"

"I have been made a victim of a base plot," he answered. "I have been hiding here for two days."

"I have read of base plots in novels, but never encountered one. They didn't seem to pick out a hero to base-plot against in this case!"

The young man was impressed by her sarcasm. He blushed and straightened up, and after swallowing hard he replied: "I do not claim to be a hero, but I am not a liar. For three years I have been employed in the First National bank at Averne."

"Yes. And money has been taken."

"A package of $5,000 was missing. I had no more to do with the taking of it than you did."

"But you skipped out and left the world to believe you a thief."

"Yes, fool that I am, it came upon me so suddenly that I was all confusion. The cashier came to me and charged me with the theft and put $100 in my hands and advised me to flee at once to escape arrest. He said prison awaited me if I stayed. I only waited to put on my hat and coat."

"Chump!" scorned Polly.

"But if I had stayed?"

"That package would have been found somewhere as having been 'mislaid.' Was there any particular reason for the cashier wanting to drive you out?"

"I can't think of any."

"Were you both courting the same young lady?"

"Why—why—"

"Oh, you innocent lamb!" laughed the girl. "It's no wonder the gold brick men can afford their steam yachts. How that cashier must chuckle."

"Do you think—think—.."

"No, I don't think. I know. Your name is what?"

"Porter Phelps."

"And I am Polly Andrews, daughter of the sheriff of this county. Come out under the plum trees."

When they were out doors and seated she continued: "Mr. Porter Phelps you appear to lack sand and to be easily rattled and to need a guardian. You have told me a straight story, have you?"

"I have."

"No evasions?"

"None whatever."

"Then you are coming with me and tell dad all about it. Dad's fine as silk on a trail, and they say I know a thing or two. I guess we can straighten this matter out all right."

"But your father—" protested the fugitive.

"He'll have a few words to say along the line I have, and then turn to and help you out."

Polly was a prophet. To a layman, the young man's story would have been pronounced too fishy for belief, but Sheriff Andrews had seen just as queer cases in his time. He listened quietly, thought for awhile, and then said:

"If you and the cashier were both after the same girl, he would have a motive in wanting to drive you away in disgrace. I'll go over to Averne and see what I can pick up."

Two days later he returned to say: "No one but the cashier had heard that any money was missing, and it did not take me long to convince him that even he had not heard of it. You can go back and take your place again."

A year later, just after Mr. Phelps had left the sheriff's house one evening, the father remarked to the daughter:

"I thought he was in love with a girl in Averne."

"So did he for awhile."

"Did she jilt him?"

"No. I arrested him!"

News of Society and Womens' Clubs

Social Well Attended.

The social given to the Normal students at the First Baptist church Friday by the B. Y. P. U. was well attended. The church parlors were handsomely decorated in autumn leaves and red haws. Progressive games were played and a menu of sandwiches, pickles, cake and coffee were served.

Entertained Newlyweds.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Howard of St. Joseph, who have been guests at the home of Mr. Howard's aunt, Mrs. Jacob Rohr, since Wednesday noon, returned to their home Saturday morning. Mrs. Rohr attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Howard in the early days of September, which was solemnized in the Evangelical church of St. Joseph.

The Dew Drop Inn Club.

The Dew Drop Inn club met in business session at the home of Mrs. Harry Farrar Wednesday afternoon. After the transaction of the business a very pleasant social hour was spent and a dainty luncheon served by the hostess. Those present were Mrs. John Sprague, Mrs. Claud Moore and son, Mrs. Albert Orme, Mrs. Elmer Baker and the hostess, Mrs. H. W. Farrar. The next meeting will be held October 2 at the home of Mrs. N. Orme.

A Double Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stillwell and sons left Friday noon for Waukon, Ia., to be present at the double golden wedding celebration of Mr. Stillwell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Stillwell, Sr., and their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Stillwell, also of Waukon. Fifty years ago on the second day of the coming October, the two brothers married sisters, and they have lived in the same town all those years, their families grew up, and they have lived to celebrate their golden wedding day together, a most unusual thing, it seems. Their children will all be present and it will be a memorable event. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Stillwell, Sr., number seven, and are Miss Minnie Stillwell, at home; Mrs. Fred Wildman, C. H., C. S., Jr., and Lewis Stillwell and Mrs. M. E. Barthell, all of Waukon, and Charles E. Stillwell of Maryville.

Met With Mrs. Sheldon.

The Woman's Missionary society of the M. E. church, South, met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. B. Sheldon, the president. The program was unusually interesting. The subject, "The Dependent and Delinquent Child and Medical Work," was presented by Mrs. Frank Mathis and discussed by the new pastor, Rev. J. D. Randolph. A paper on "Our Institutions for the Prevention and Rescue of Children" was read by Mrs. N. E. Humber, and a story of the work of Miss Ida Shafer in Brazil was given by Miss Eva Ashford. A vocal number, "Promise," by Watkins, was sung by Mrs. Charles Thorp. Refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Frank Mathis was chosen a delegate to the missionary conference to be held in St. Joseph, October 14-15. Mrs. E. B. Sheldon will read a paper at this conference on "Orientals at Home and Abroad." The next meeting of the society will be held with Mrs. D. J. Thornton.

Hadley's Extravagance.

Governor Hadley's attacks upon Attorney General Major proceed not only from jealousy on account of the superior achievements of the Democratic attorney general, but they are inspired by a malicious purpose to discredit an official who has not only administered the office more effectively for the people of the state than Hadley administered the same office, but who also did more work than Hadley at less cost to the taxpayers.

Let the figures from the state auditor's books tell the story:

Cost of litigation and contingent expense:

Under Attorney General Hadley, for 44 months from Jan. 1, 1905, to Sept. 1, 1908	$103,252.88
Under General Major, for 44 months, from Jan. 1, 1909, to Sept. 1, 1912	76,830.33
Which shows that Gen. Major has saved the people in this one item	$ 26,422.55

The Men Who Succeed

As heads of large enterprises are men of great energy. Success, today, demands health. To ail is to fail. It's utter folly for a man to endure a weak, run-down, half alive condition when Electric Bitters will put him right on his feet in short order. "Four bottles did me more real good than any other medicine I ever took," writes Chas. B. Allen, Sylvania, Ga. "After years of suffering with rheumatism, liver trouble, stomach disorders, and deranged kidneys, I am again, thanks to Electric Bitters, sound and well." Try them. Only 50 cents at the Orear-Henry Drug Co.

Gather Your Seed Corn Early.

The Wabash is distributing fly bills broadcast urging the early selection of seed corn for use of next spring's planting. Hundreds of farmers had to replant their corn last spring and then had only one-half to two-thirds of a stand because they waited until spring to get their seed and then picked it from the crib. The fly bill issued by the Wabash gives valuable suggestions how to go about the selection of fully developed ears most suitable for this purpose, also how seed corn should be stored during the winter months. Copy of this fly bill can be obtained from any Wabash agent or by addressing J. D. McNamara, G. P. A., St. Louis, Mo.

What We Never Forget

According to science, are the things associated with our early home life, such as Bucklin's Arnica Salve, that mother or grandmother used to cure our burns, boils, scalds, sores, skin eruptions, cuts, sprains or bruises. Forty years of cures prove its merit. Unrivaled for piles, corns or cold sores. Only 25 cents at the Orear-Henry Drug Co.

SOLDIERS FIRED UPON CITIZENS

Militia, Guarding Street Car Property, Shot Trespassers.

KILLED ONE, WOUNDED SEVERAL

Strike at Augusta, Ga., Becomes Serious—Bullets for All Who Attempted to Pass "Dead Line" Near Power Plant.

Augusta, Ga., Sept. 28.—One person was killed, another shot probably fatally, a third injured severely and a number of persons fired upon by state guardsmen, called out late in the day to protect the power plant of the street railway company from possible violence of its striking employes.

The guardsmen were summoned when it was reported the plant was to be dynamited at night and they hastily established a "dead line."

Alfred Dorn was killed when he and Ben. F. Baker attempted to pass the line in a carriage. When challenged, Baker whipped his horse and the soldiers fired. Baker's injuries are slight.

Robert Christie attempted to drive through the lines in a motor car and did not hear the sentry's challenge. He had gone only a few feet when he was shot through the lungs. He will die.

Charles Wilson, his wife and child, in a motor car, also were fired on, but escaped unhurt. Soldiers also shot at a boy on a motorcycle but did not hit him.

Great crowds were assembled in the mill district, which was the scene of the previous night's rioting. Just before dark the West End sympathizers spiked the long Broad street bridge.

Despite the announcement early in the day that the proposed mass meeting at night had been called off by the labor leaders, a large crowd assembled at the courthouse.

The night's outbreak was the direct result of the refusal of the street railway company to arbitrate the troubles with the striking men.

TAKES MURDER CHARGE COOLLY

Young Man Accused of Killing Family at Wellington Little Concerned Over Arrest.

Wellington, Kan., Sept. 28.—Otto McKnelly, who is in jail here charged with the murder of his father, mother and sister, has started a dancing class and, apparently, is little concerned over his arrest on the damaging evidence against him.

The coroner's jury went to the scene of the murder and made a minute investigation. Tracks of a man running through a cornfield were found. They led towards the Santa Fe roundhouse where McKnelly worked, and fitted his shoes.

McKnelly was absent from his work at the car repair shops of the Santa Fe nearly two hours between 12:45 and 2:30 o'clock Wednesday morning and when he returned he told William Arnold, his foreman, that he had been fitting a pair of shoes for a car brake.

The coroner's jury had a Santa Fe employe give an actual demonstration of shoe fitting to car wheels and it was found that it could be done by an experienced man in three minutes. McKnelly has retained W. W. Schwinn for his defense.

Fly Killer Reports.

Redlands, Cal., Sept. 28.—A. E. Chapman, the municipal fly catcher here, has just filed his first report, showing that in the period between September 1 and the present time he killed approximately 3,750,000 flies. He has emptied 50 gallons of flies from 100 traps scattered through the business portion of Redlands. Chapman estimates that there are 75,000 flies to a gallon, and on this basis the total mortality is estimated.

Motor Racer Injured.

Hiawatha, Kan., Sept. 28.—Otis Spigler of Falls City, Neb., narrowly escaped death at the fair here when his motor car burned out a tire on a sharp curve of the half mile track, throwing him 30 feet. The heavy car turned over and over. His reckless driving had made him a favorite. After being revived he was able to drive another car home. His mechanician was injured slightly.

Turned On Girl's Rescuer.

Pratt, Kan., Sept. 28.—A. E. Snell came near killing Willie Barker, a high school boy, here. Snell was drunk and attacked a young high school girl. Her screams brought young Barker and John Bennett to the scene. Snell hit Bennett with his fist and then hit Barker on the head with the blade of his lathing hatchet. A leather cover over the hatchet saved Barker's life. Snell is in jail.

Find Wealthy Mason Dead.

Hugo, Ok., Sept. 28.—John W. Gowan a member of the Masonic Consistory in Wichita, was found dead in a cottage six miles west of here. He owned $3,000 in Hugo and Cooperstown, Pa., banks and owned large land interests here and in Pennsylvania. He had no relatives. The Masonic lodge is holding his body for information after wiring Masonic bodies in four states.

LIVED ON RAW EGGS

Mr. Richard's Experience With Different Diets. Peaches and Buttermilk for Three Years.

Cecilton, Md.—Mr. George Richards, of this place, during the past 12 years, has probably tried more different diets than the average person would ever use in a lifetime.

What he has to say about his experiments, must therefore be highly interesting to anyone suffering from indigestion or stomach troubles of any kind.

He says: "For more than 12 years, I suffered with stomach troubles, and paid hundreds of dollars for doctor bills and medicines. I was also operated on for piles.

I lived on dried peaches and buttermilk for nearly three years. The only thing that would not give me pain was raw eggs.

I was a physical wreck. I could not sleep, and was as near crazy as a man could well be.

I must say that after taking two 25-cent packages of Thedford's Black-Draught, it did me more good than all I ever spent for other medicines.

I have been working daily on the farm ever since, and I am as hard as iron." This purely vegetable remedy has been in successful use for more than 70 years. Try it. But be sure that it's "Thedford's."

FEEL BULLY? TAKE CASCARETS TONIGHT

A 10-Cent Box Will Keep Your Liver, Stomach and Bowels Clean, Pure and Fresh for Month.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver, delayed fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Salts, cathartic pills, oil and purgative waters force a passageway for a day or two—yes—but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver or stomach.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels clean and regular for months.

BURLINGTON JUNCTION.

H. D. Middaugh was in Maryville on business Tuesday. He has secured the job of painting and decorating the new federal building that is in course of erection at the county seat and will begin the work just as soon as conditions will permit.

The fatal disease, which attacked and killed a number of horses in this locality the past month, seems to be abating, and no more cases have been reported in the vicinity of Burlington Junction this week. Farmers have taken precautionary measure against the malady and this has had its results. The disease is appearing in Page county, Iowa, however, and Dr. J. A. Hendricks had three cases near Braddyville Sunday. He spent the entire day there treating the animals. After making a thorough study of the disease, experts have come to the conclusion that the malady is not contagious and no quarantine will be made in this state against Nebraska and Kansas horses.

Fletcher Jones, the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Jones, living southwest of town, met with a peculiar accident Sunday morning which will keep him from school for some time. He had just arisen from bed and as he was going toward the stairway he playfully turned a somersault over another bed. He misjudged the distance to a window and his foot broke through the glass, the sharp edge cutting his ankle painfully and severing the main tendon where it joins the heel. The injury bled freely and the boy's parents phoned to Burlington Junction for a doctor. They were unable to find any physician here, but left a call with central office to send one as soon as possible. They then called Dr. William Wallis of Maryville, who arrived shortly after Drs. Gaugh and Carter, who had gone as soon as notified. The three physicians dressed the injury, sewing the leader together and placing the boy's foot in a position for healing. Fletcher is reported as doing well and it is now thought that the injury will heal all right.
